Unfortunately the application blank was omitted from the paper last week but there will be camping at Cedar Hill Saturday. Miss Dorothy Sanborn of Needham will give the second session on pioneering. No one will be accepted for the course after this week. At the last camp day, bird feeding stations were made and hung around the camp house.

Last Monday, Jan. 30, eleven Arlington leaders attended a regional camping conference at the Hotel Westminister in Boston. Mrs. Towne was one of the speakers at the afternoon session. Troop leaders attending were Captain Bernice Hayes, Captain L. MacKusick of troop 10, and Lieutenant Frances Donahue of troop 4; Lieutenant Mary Leverone of troop 9; members of the local camp committee, Mrs. Harold Yeames, chairman, Mrs. F. Low, Mrs. H. On February 10, members of troop 13 will present a short program for the local D. A. R. organization.

February 4th is the Metropolitan Girls' Conference to be held at Radcliffe College, Cambridge. There are eleven delegates from Arlington, one member on the general committee and two members in a debate. Troop captains are invited to attend any session during the conference. Saturday evening the meeting will be held in Saunders' Theatre and is open to the public. The local bugle and drum corps will play at this meeting and Mrs. Arthur Choate, first vice president of Girl Scouts, Inc. will be the speaker. The Sunday afternoon meeting to be held in Saunders' Theatre is also open and the speaker will be Commissioner Ware of Brookline. The corps members will meet and go in a group Saturday.

Ten girls from Troop 13 spent a very joyous overnight hike to Cedar Hill. The group hiked over, cooked supper in the camp-house, slept in the Rookery and cooked an early breakfast at the camp. With day camping on Saturday pioneering was started with Miss Sanborn and the girls will continue this work. The athletic merit badge is to be completed Monday at 1:30 at headquarters. After the examination next week.

Looking Inside

Met a man who has lending libraries in stores.
Asked him how business was; "Fair."
Asked him if he knew any business that was good; "cut-up puzzles and games."
Looked it up. He was right.
People are buying puzzles, checkers, backgammon, cribbage, cards, ping-pong and other games.
Tell you what, if this old depression has anything resembling a tinfoil lining it is the re-creation of the home circle.
We're staying home, getting acquainted with the wife and kids. They are not so bad—after we get used to 'em.

Two Crates Of Oranges Stolen

Another strange theft was recorded yesterday morning when the manager of the A. & P. store at 191 Broadway, Arlington notified the Arlington police that two crates of oranges had been stolen from in front of that store. Similar thefts have taken place during the summer months but strangely enough few of these cases come up during winter. The police are investigating.

Arlington Man At New York Beauty Conclave

William R. Purrier, of the William Filene's Sons, Beauty Salon of Boston, and 129 Overlook road, Arlington, will leave this week for New York City to attend the Allied Beauty Conclave, the Spring convention of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists' Assn. opening at the Hotel New Yorker February 5 and continuing through the week. The Beauty Conclave is a national gathering which twice each year determines the trend of coiffure styles for the United States. In addition to its presentation of the styles, the Conclave includes a four-day postgraduate school attended by shop owners from all parts of the United States and Canada in which leading American artists and stylists demonstrate the correct technique in connection with the new styles.

By attending the Conclave and the Post-Graduate School, each shop owner is able to keep fully abreast of the trend of hair styles and to adapt them to the current millinery modes as determined by the leading millinery designers of Paris and New York. The Conclave will include a notable afternoon showing of the latest ideas in hats for Spring and Summer wear.

Short hair will receive most of the attention of the Conclave this season, since the edict is that the correct length is not to exceed one and one-half inches. Pronounced changes in the placing and use of curls will be evident when the new models are shown in New York.

Fitchburg Tops Arlington High By 46-20 Score

Fitchburg High gained a good measure of revenge for their defeat in football last fall at the hands of Arlington High when they buried the Spy Flanders, 46 to 20, before more than 1000 basketball fans at the B. F. Brown gymnasium in Fitchburg last night.

Johnny Duguid opened the scoring in 2 minutes and 20 seconds on a foul shot and Belliveau soloed to score the first double-decker five seconds later to give the locals a 3-0 lead, which they never relinquished.

Ed Grovo followed with a long angle shot only to have Ray Belliveau steal the ball in the fourth minute to solo to another basket. Fillback scored three more points and Belliveau two more while Wright was sinking two baskets to have the opening stanza ended with Fitchburg leading, 10 to 6.

In the second period, Duguid and Belliveau combined for nine points, while Wright, Capt. Hendrick and Seretto scored baskets for Arlington. The score at half time was 19-12 for Fitchburg.

In the third period, Belliveau and Fillback ran wild and the score had run up to 40-15 at the close of the session. The last period was listless, with subs sprinkling both line-ups.

Capt. Paul Hendrick and Wright were outstanding for the visitors, while Belliveau, Fillback and Duguid shone for Fitchburg. In the preliminary, Arlington's seconds defeated Fitchburg's squad, 24 to 19.

Hints Fairchild Of Lexington May Have Taken Life

A letter was received yesterday from a friend of Lucius C. Fairchild of Lexington, former actor and well-known dramatic director who has been missing since Wednesday, hinting that he contemplated taking his own life. The letter was mailed in Niagara Falls, N. Y. Thursday, according to the postmark.

No reason for such an act could be given by his wife, Mrs. Evelyn N. Fairchild, unless a recent attack of the influenza which had left him in a very nervous condition had temporarily deranged his mind. On learning of the contents of the letter, Chief James J. Sullivan of the Lexington police wired the Niagara Falls police in an effort to locate Mr. Fairchild who is well known in dramatic circles in Eastern Massachusetts.

Mr. Fairchild left home Wednesday forenoon to go to Boston. A checkup revealed that he was last seen coming out of a building on Federal street, Boston, at 8 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. That night he was to have directed a rehearsal for a dramatic event in Lowell.

Fire Damage To Local Property During Past Year Is Comparatively Small—Three Fires Responsible For More Than Half The Loss — Mutual Aid Policy Of Surrounding Departments Proves Helpful — Appropriation Requested By Chief Tierney Is Lower Than Last Year

The sum of $106,606.54 is asked as the necessary appropriation for the Arlington Fire department for the present year as compared with $118,262.25 asked by Chief Daniel B. Tierney last year. This is disclosed in Chief Tierney's annual report to the board of selectmen.

The amount sought by Chief Tierney to operate his department is a substantial reduction over that of last year. The appropriation sought is most interesting because at the same time, the department, under Chief Tierney, is giving most satisfactory service as indicated in the annual report.

During the past year the department responded to 161 box alarms, 270 still alarms, 77 mutual aid calls, a total of 508 calls, or 52 more than the year 1931. In 1930, the department had responded to 575 calls, the largest in its history. Thirty injuries were received by firemen while performing their duty, during the past year.

Last year, $60,206.30 damage was suffered to local property as a result of fires. The previous year, a total of $58,326.73 was lost by fire and in 1930, a staggering total of $99,177.21 was the damage caused by fire. These figures are indicative that the fire department is doing efficient work in reducing the loss by fire to local property.

Insurance practically covered all of this property damage.

Three fires during the past year were responsible for more than one half of the loss. These were: November 28, the residence of Duane F. Phelps, at 441 Mystic street. He was awarded $22,152.23 on the house and contents; December 22, fire in Rose's Tailor Shop in the Thorne Block was responsible for $3,600.00; December 30, two alarm fire caused $5,600.00 damage to Wyman's barn and contents at 58 Mary street.

Incidentally, during the Wyman fire, another fire broke out in a different section of the town and Engine 3 the only piece of apparatus remaining in quarters, with Medford and Somerville apparatus, responded while the local stations were covered by Lexington, Winchester and more apparatus from Medford and Somerville in case of further emergency. This shows the benefit of the mutual aid plan which went into effect last September 18. This arrangement systematic response of apparatus from surrounding towns and cities of Somerville, Medford, Winchester, Lexington, Belmont, and Cambridge.

To fight these fires and maintain the fire department last year, a total of $115,617.83 was expended. The Chief's report shows.

Fire Prevention
Under the direction of Chief Tierney, fire prevention work has been efficiently carried on in Arlington during the past year, and has resulted in saving considerable property from damage. Department employees made 16,718 semi-monthly inspections of all business places in which only six fires occurred that entailed a loss. The merchants have co-operated with the fire department to save property and prevent fire. In addition, as part of the ninth annual inspection of cellars of all dwellings, the firemen on their "days off" inspected 6849 cellars and the hazards found were far less than on the first inspection in 1924, when there were only 3918 dwellings. Of all fires in dwellings only seven started in cellars last year, clearly demonstrating that these inspections cause people to pay more attention to fire prevention by keeping their cellars clean.

Fire drills have been conducted in local schools to check on the time required to vacate these buildings in case of fire. Four hundred and seventeen extinguishers in schools and other public buildings were recharged last year according to the Chief's report.

Will Enlarge Local Store

William A. Muller, of Boston was granted a permit by William A. Gratto, inspector of buildings, yesterday, to have an addition built to the rear of a store at 33 Massachusetts avenue. The work will be done by the Arlington Construction company of 691 Massachusetts avenue. It will entail a cost of $800.

To Be Taken At Face Value

When you pick up this newspaper and read the announcements of our local merchants, or those of national advertisers, you need never think to question the sincerity and honesty of their statements.

This reliance on Advertising has been brought about by Advertising, and is one of Advertising's greatest contributions to the satisfaction and ease of modern living.

An advertiser deliberately attempting to deceive takes the quick, short road to ruin. The insincere or extravagant statement may have its brief day. But the greater the attention it attracts, the sooner the public will discover and destroy its deceit.

The cornerstone of successful shopkeeping always has been "keep faith with the public," give honest values and truthfully represent the merchandise and its service. This principle had to find its expression in Advertising—for Advertising is nothing more than the owner of the store or a factory talking with people in their homes about such things as shoes and soap, radios and rugs, blankets and bloomers.

It pays to read the advertisements. They are first-hand news of what is being invented, fashioned, and perfected in the workshops of the world for your well-being, comfort and convenience.

A STORY OF A SINGER AND HER WORDS WHICH HAUNT OUR MEMORIES

By TEE-EM-SEE

Years ago, while engaged in pursuing a musical career, we attained the friendship of a noted singer and musician, whose life story would read like a fairy tale, whose achievement realized in the world of music is the goal of every young singer with ambition.

American born, she was acclaimed by the critics of Europe, at a time when America was considered as barbaric in its musical tastes by those abroad. She was one of the few Americans who knew, and studied with, Jennie Lind. She sang in all the great opera houses in Europe from La Scala in Milan to the Grand Opera House in Paris.

In England, she was recognized as a great singer and actress. Her operatic career was crowned with success.

Among her friends was Sir Arthur Sullivan, and she was the second person to sing his undying, "The Lost Chord." Sir Arthur himself acted as her accompanist many times when she sang his memorable melody.

In partial payment of the debt she felt she owed to Sullivan for his kindness, she was instrumental in securing the passage of a copyright bill in the United States which protected Sullivan's interests in this country, when his works were being "pirated" here, in the heyday of his success. This lady made her home in London for years, at the close of her operatic career, and was a correspondent for the Boston Transcript.

Returning to America, she became a famous teacher in Boston and later in Minneapolis. In Minneapolis she was stricken, as the result of overwork, and on her recovery returned to Boston, her native city, to reside with relatives. As she grew older, her hearing became impaired, and she was unable to teach, although she retained her mental faculties, and keenness of observation of things musical.

As her fortune dwindled, (and remember prima donnas did not receive the salaries during her period of success, as those of more recent years,) she became feeble and was admitted to the "Fresher Home for Aged Musicians" in Philadelphia, where she passed on after a few years there, being over 80 when she died.

She never married—devoting her entire life to her career, and her family. Her mother was her constant companion during her years of success.

And now you may ask—"Why this story?"—Because, being in our association with her, she uttered words, which often return to us—words which burned into our memory—the saddest, most truthful words that can be said.

In reviewing her achievement and the adulation which had come to her she stopped one day and said—"I find that after all these experiences through which I have passed—the hardest thing in life is to grow old—alone!"

Words Recalled
These words returned to us vividly, when we paid a visit recently to the City Infirmary on Winthrop Street, on a charitable errand.

There in a well-kept comfortable living room, were several aged women—women who had given their all to service—somebody's mother or sister, of wife—waiting with work-worn hands, and tired eyes—whose steps faltered—some in wheel chairs who needed constant care and attention—sitting there silently—waiting—growing older and older—alone.

Ghosts of Memory
Everything possible is being done for them, yet that Ghost of Memory, must haunt them in their waking hours. The memories of childhood prattle; only voices of stalwart sons or loving thoughts of gentle considerate daughters, sisters or husbands. All passed on, journey far, leaving them to seek that last refuge where kindly hearts of understanding might do for them until their final reunion with those who had left them regretfully.

To grow old alone. What can we do to assuage their loneliness? It is acknowledged that music is one of the greatest blessings bestowed upon mankind. Despite its many shortcomings—thank God for the radio! With a turn of a knob we can control or dismiss. We can visualize what is going on in the world about us. We can listen to a recipe for pastry or a gorgeous symphony. We can laugh at the wit of comedians—hear the music of beautiful choirs and helpful sermons—songs of old and modern melodies, all the world is encompassed.

Don't you think we might help the days pass more quickly—banish lonely hours—bring a spirit of cheerfulness into those lives which count the hours between arising and retiring. Hours which must drag on, unbroken by tasks which are make impossible. Why not discover a means of donating a radio set which will bring a change into the scene? If the recipients disagree as to the choice of programs or stations, so much the better—Why not?

Have you a set of which you have tired? Or will you join with us in making it possible to purchase one—or two—for remember all we have said is equally applicable to a group of elderly men—victims of the same chain of circumstances, and who find as our musician friend truly said—"The hardest thing in life is to grow old—alone!"

We are informed that among the belongings of Robert Trest Paine, after he had passed away, was found the manuscript of that song which will live forever, "Home Sweet Home". On the corner was penciled the words, "It is hard to grow old alone!"

City Editor Edward A. Cronin, some years ago, reading of this notation, immediately thought that these words would make a fine title for a song. He wrote the verse and had it set to music. Here follows the verse as penned by Editor Cronin:

Darling, life's shadows are nearing,
—It's hard to grow old alone;
Often, in my dreams, you're appearing,
Your voice dear, I'm hearing,
When twilight falls I am lonely,
I long to be with you once more,
Without you, love, near,
This old life is drear;
—It's hard to grow old alone.

There in a well-kept comfortable living room, were several aged women—women who had given their all to service—somebody's mother or sister, of wife—waiting with work-worn hands, and tired eyes—whose steps faltered—some in wheel chairs who needed constant care and attention—sitting there silently—waiting—growing older and older—alone.

THIS lovely lace frock has a "labeled" back cut very, very low and its skirt is so cut that there is a very definite suggestion of an old-time bustle. Chief interest—despite these novel features—resides in the beauty of the durable lace, which is sheer as thistle-down and yet amazingly strong. Once upon a time we wrote an article on the strength of certain very sheer looking things—and people who have exhibited pretty high character despite the fact that they wouldn't have had much luck in a brawn and muscle contest.

Better Breakfasts

WHEN the north wind blows, and the cold nips your nose, and the branches are cracking with ice, then you need something warm to offset the bleak storm, and a good filling breakfast is nice. Then the food in your pot should be hearty and hot, and your overcoat heavy and thick, and the things that you eat should have substance and heat, or the weather will make you feel sick.

But let's get down to prose, although there's nothing prouder about a better breakfast. Here's one for a morning of bitter weather when you need the proteins of meat, the heat of oatmeal and the filling qualities of baked potatoes to help you resist the cold.

Compote of Pears and Apples: Pare and core two large cooking apples, and cut them into eighths. Add one and one-third cups water and one cup sugar to the syrup from a No. 2 can of pears, add a few cloves, and boil for three or four minutes. Add apples, and simmer gently until tender but still in perfect shape. Remove apples, and add pears, whole or cut in halves, and cook until very soft and syrup somewhat thickened. Remove pears to dish with apples, and strain syrup over. Chill. Serves eight.

Hints for Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

A TEASPOON of sugar added when frying tomatoes brings out their full flavor. In cooking both ham and pork, a small amount of sugar points up the nut-like flavor of the meat.

If late in starting the roast for dinner, sear it under the broiler while waiting for the oven to get hot. By the time the meat is nicely browned, the oven will be hot enough to continue the cooking.

CANNED PINEAPPLE SAUTÉD, ADDS PIQUANCY TO MANY MEAT DISHES.

Kitchen-Cup-lets

by Della Taylor

Stewed Tomatoes
1 large can tomatoes 1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons sugar 6 slices stale bread
salt and pepper

Place tomatoes, sugar, butter, salt and pepper (to taste) in a double boiler. Add enough $\frac{1}{2}$ inch squares of bread to absorb liquid of the tomatoes. Mix thoroughly and cook for about ten minutes, after the water in the bottom of the double boiler starts to boil.

Perhaps you noticed, in the newspapers recently, that in Hungary, thousands of irate husbands sent a signed petition to the Government asking that the Ministry of Justice formulate a law forbidding women to play bridge in parlors which are run for profit? This is probably the best way they could plan to get their wives to stay home and see that "the inner man" was taken care of.

Spinach en Casserole

1 large can spinach 6 slices stale bread
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cream Grated American Cheese 5 strips of bacon
Drain the contents of one large can of spinach and place in a bowl. Add to the spinach one-half cup of cream and also stir in quite an amount of grated cheese (this amount depends upon how much you, or your guests, like cheese). Mix this well and place in a buttered casserole dish. Cover the top with grated cheese and bake for about twenty minutes. About five minutes before serving, place strips of bacon across the top and place under the broiler until the bacon becomes crisp.

It's almost guaranteed to make even the children eat spinach—and like it.

Research Gives Bran New Health Values

BRAN, a food product that for ten years or more has been recognized as a valuable source of the "bulk" or fiber necessary to assure proper elimination, provides an interesting example of how the food scientists of our own day build upon and develop the findings of their predecessors.

In 1886 Christian Eykman, a Dutch physician, then in the East Indies, discovered that chickens fed on polished rice developed the dreaded disease beriberi, but that when rice still in the husks was fed to them the majority recovered. From this followed the conclusion that beriberi arose from the lack of some element present in the covering, or husk, of the rice.

This element is known as Vitamin B. It has since been found in many cereals, particularly in the hard, outer coating of the grain. Very recent research conducted at the Nutrition Laboratory, Teachers College, Columbia University, has shown that bran, the commercially prepared outer coating of the wheat grain, provides Vitamin B in generous amounts. Beriberi is a rare disease in the United States; but this aside, the vitamin plays an important part in the diet.

Vitamin B stimulates the appetite and helps tone the intestines, thus co-operating with the "bulk" provided by bran, in aiding normal elimination. Iron, another element that the research at Columbia has shown to be present in bran, adds still further to its health value, for iron is needed to build good, red blood and to prevent nutritional anemia.

Moray Fore, picked by Fanchon and Marco out of all the thousands of girls they have trained in their Hollywood studio, as approaching closest to the feminine ideal of beauty. Miss Fore is a charming example of the vital, superbly healthy type of young American womanhood which the scientist, with his discoveries of the part played by food in assuring health, has done so much to create.

In combination with other cereals, sprinkled over soups, as a crisp topping for stewed fruits, and as an ingredient of many kinds of breads, cakes, cookies and puddings.

Below are two tasty recipes for the use of bran. There are countless other ways of serving it, just awaiting wide awake minds to discover them.

Bran-Nut Bread
Two and one-half cups flour, three-quarters teaspoon salt, three teaspoons baking powder, two eggs, three-quarters cup sugar, three-quarters cup milk, two tablespoons cooking oil, three-quarters cup bran, three-quarters cup chopped walnuts.
Mix and sift flour, salt, baking powder. Beat eggs and sugar, until light, add milk (to which cooking oil has been added) alternately with dry ingredients. Beat well, then stir in bran and nuts. Fill greased bread pan three-quarters full, and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) about one and one-quarter hours.

Scotch Bran Cookies
Three cups bran, three cups flour, one cup brown sugar, one cup lard, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons vanilla, one-half teaspoon lemon extract, six tablespoons cold water.
Mix dry ingredients. Then work lard into the mixture well with the fingers. Add the flavoring to water and stir in last. Roll rather thin, cut and bake in oven at 350 degrees for 15 minutes. Yields six dozen small cookies.

It Foams

HAVE you tried the unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice that everyone is talking about? If you put it in a glass jar or a shaker, and shake it up a bit, it builds up a collar at the top. This foam or "head" on the drink makes it look better, and anything that looks better tastes better. You'll like it so much that you'll drink a lot of it. So, if you want to vary the taste a bit, try Chilled Mixed Fruit Drink: Combine the contents of one 12-ounce can of unsweetened Hawaiian pineapple juice, one 10-ounce can of grapefruit juice, one-fourth cup orange juice, two tablespoons fresh lime juice and one tablespoon sugar. Have all these juices ice cold, and serve in small cocktail glasses or in glass cups. Serves six.

Suits to a T.
Or, if you are one of those persons who can't get along without tea, try for variety this attractive Tropical Iced Tea: Dissolve three tablespoons confectioners sugar in a No. 3 can of unsweetened pineapple juice, and tint a delicate shade of green. Pour into ice cube refrigerator pans, drop a maraschino cherry in each compartment, and let freeze. Make ice tea as usual, sweetening to taste while still hot. Chill. Serve in tall glasses with one or two pineapple cubes and a wedge of lemon. This recipe will make ten to twelve cubes.

LIKE THE HORSE
If anything could forcibly illustrate the law of diminishing returns resulting from increasing costs beyond a reasonable figure, the three-cent letter postage has turned the trick.

Postal revenue has been lost which will never be regained from the same class of mail, for the simple reason that the public has devised ways to use third-class mail instead of first.

The same thing will take place with gasoline. As gas taxes are shoved up beyond reasonable figures, smaller cars will be used, or larger cars will be used less, and the volume sold will diminish, thereby producing less revenue for the state.

The same thing will take place with property. Beyond a certain point, the owner cannot pay taxes. When that day comes, he will let the city, county or state take it and the tax rolls will be flooded with unsalable property, and tax deficits will mount.

The public is no different than the horse. You can lead the horse to water, but you can't make him drink. You can tax the public beyond its ability to pay, but you can't make it pay.

The political subdivisions of this nation, from the smallest hamlet to the Federal government, should readjust the tax bill and public expenditures to fit the ability of the people to pay.

The papers are filled with reports of meetings of tax experts, state tax commissions and other organizations of "tax spenders" who are in a large measure to blame for the present taxation problems of the people. As advisers on the financial affairs of the people, they have for years taken the easiest course, acquiescing in public demands for extravagant public expenditures without raising their voices in protest or showing where exorbitant spending was leading the people.

Even today, most of the "tax experts," instead of recommending drastic cuts in public expenditures, are hunting ways and means to increase existing taxes or find new methods of taxation.

The same thing is going to happen to every city, county, state and the nation itself, that has happened to millions of families—they are going to have to get along on less money than they thought was possible a year or two years ago. Instead of increases in taxes or new methods of taxation to balance public deficits, there is going to have to be decreased taxation and decreased public demands on a balanced scale, which will eventually wipe out the deficits.

Families are paying up their bills now on reduced income simply by reducing their expenses below their income. Governments will have to do the same thing.

CAN WE EXIST ALONE?

In a world where space has been annihilated by fast transportation and instantaneous communication, can any nation exist alone, remote from others?

Most economists answer with a decisive No to this. They point out that the problems of all peoples are much the same, that a brotherhood of purpose is more necessary than ever before, that world cooperation is vital not only to economic recovery but to the future maintenance of international prosperity. They believe that good and liberalized foreign relations, acting as the basis for stimulated trade between countries, holds the hope of the future.

There are sound grounds for believing that. The collapse of American export trade—which was caused as much by tariff wars and embargoes as by hard times—has closed hundreds of factories. It has thrown thousands of men out of work. It has caused bond defaults and lost dividends. It has made itself felt in every business and retarded purchasing power and industrial expansion.

We cannot sell to other lands unless they can sell to us. The entire world wants the products of American factories—the automobiles, typewriters, tractors and similar machine products we make. They can buy them if we buy products of theirs that we need. This does not mean that we should subject American factories to cheap-labor foreign competition—but it does mean that all the phases of the problem of foreign trade need overhauling and readjustment.

THERE ARE SUBJECTS, MANY

The subjects one may write

In verses or in prose

Are numberless—the only doubt

Is what the writer knows.

How one performs the pleasant task?

The treatment and the style.

Are more important if you ask.

To make the work worth while.

Imagination bears a part.

Choice words? Of course they do.

A ready mind, a kindly heart,

These are essential too.

Like other efforts that are made,

There is a share of fun.

In trying—though one is not paid

In cash when it is done.

Now just why are we writing this?

We hope some one will see;

You know? The little Sunshine

Miss

Suggested it to me.

She wrote to Daddy and she said

"I like to make up rhymes.

But subjects come not to my mind—

That stops me many times."

Her verses on the dearest thought

That one could write upon,

Then followed, and they pleased

a lot

From one so bright and young.

"Mother" was her subject, so

We feel inclined to say—

Just write about the friends you know.

And games in which you play:

On "Father" write a tribute verse;

Or sister, brother, aunt;

On uncle or a Red Cross Nurse—

You see the subjects mount.

Or rain, the snow, the heat, the cold.

The flowers, birds and trees.

On silver, iron, brass or gold.

And many more than these.

Perhaps our little author friend

Will profit from this rhyme:

Observing subjects without end

To write on all the time.

—Sunshine Jere.

MEDFORD THEATRE

George Raft has his second featured role in "Under-Cover Man," a new melodrama coming Sunday to the Medford Theatre. Following his work in "Scarface," "Dancers in the Dark" and other films, Paramount gave the young actor top billing in "Night After Night" and now repeats the honor in "Under-Cover Man."

In his new film, Raft has the role of a high-class crook who turns police informer in order to find the murderer of his father. Nancy Carroll works opposite him in the role of Lora Madigan, who becomes the accomplice of Raft for a similar purpose—to find the murderer of her brother.

Lew Cody also plays a prominent role, that of Ken Mason, society playboy who is really the leader of a gang of bond thieves, and the other leading roles are in the hands of Gregory Ratoff, Roscoe Karns, Noel Francis and David Landau.

The same bill presents Mary Astor and a splendid cast in "Those We Love" a story of mother love that is of unusual appeal. A Mickey Mouse Cartoon is numbered among the short subjects which complete the program for the first four days of the coming week.

WILLIAM POWERS, HOST

William Powers, 73 Orchard street, entertained a number of friends at his home with a social gathering. Piano entertainment was furnished by Misses Catherine Powers, sister to the host, and Grace Rawlin. Silvio DeStefano rendered several popular numbers with his banjo, and Louis Ascellillo sang and provided several numbers with the accordion. Refreshments were served. Those present were: the Misses Sylvia Thompson, Edna Reardon, Wanda Pakiewicz, Doris Twombly of Cambridge, Dorothy Martell, Eileen McGoldrick, Catherine Powers, Marie Morse, Margaret Leonard and Grace Rawlin. Also the Messrs. William Powers, James Powers, Walter McLaughlin, Clarence McLaughlin, Sylvio DeStefano, James Campbell, William Ascellillo, Louis Ascellillo and Nicholas McCullough.

TWO LOST CHILDREN

Two small children, feeling the spring urge in the air yesterday, wandered so far from home they got lost and were restored to their homes by the police. Lila Dupee, 2 1/2 years, of 16 Ash avenue, Somerville, was found on Henry street and Joseph L. McNally, 33 Governors avenue was the other.

MISS BEARSE ENTERTAINS

Miss Florence Bearse of 49 Quincy street, entertained at her home with a bridge party. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of an enjoyable afternoon. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Craig of Lynn, Gordon Curgis and Pierce MacDonal of Middleton, Ashley St. Clair of Needham, Leonard Peterson, Miss Francis McCarthy of Dorchester and Malcolm Bearse.

Medford Locals

—Miss Simonette Van Damme of 28 Poole street, well known Medford librarian, is recuperating from an appendix operation at the Lawrence Memorial hospital.

—Edwin L. Rosen, Medford, unemployed, has filed a petition in bankruptcy with liabilities of $1031 and assets of $150.

—William Lynn of Machias, Me., aged 21, was taken ill on Governors avenue and was assisted to the Lawrence Memorial hospital for treatment.

—Box 151 at 7:50 p. m. was a false alarm. The box is located on Mystic avenue.

—Kay Erickson of Adams street, senior at Medford High, who sustained burns at a dance a short time ago, is slowly recovering at the Lawrence Memorial hospital where she has been since the accident.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

on the Junior Citizen badge the entire troop with the exception of those few girls not yet first class hope to take up photography as a project.

Troop 6 Scouts are busy preparing and planning for an ALL ARLINGTON Scout Cookie Day. Katherine Blasdale is general chairman. Representatives from the troop will visit every troop during the coming week to explain in detail the working of the project. Troop artists have been more active during the past month and now only troops 3, 7, 12 and 13 lack crests for the attendance charts.

There is a supply of attractive Girl Scout Calendars for distribution at the office.

Have you seen the jolly cats at Hdgrs.?

Many girls have signed up to take part in the State Review, March 11th. We need still more for the skating scene. Give your name to your troop captain if you can and are willing to take part. There will be no costume expense, each girl participating, paying for her ticket.

Already 2000 tickets have been sold for the Review. Arlington Scouts will be allotted only 150 Scout tickets. These cost 25 cents and orders will be filed at the office only through the captains or lieutenants. One leader is to accompany every ten girls. To make the necessary arrangements for transportation the final date for tickets at the office will be March 4.

Troop 1—The meeting this week was the first conducted by the girls, with Sally Poole, captain and Elma Shinn, lieutenant. After the opening exercises and a period devoted to the singing of camp songs the tenderfoot girls worked on Flag and Anthem, and the older girls continued their knitting for the Needlework Guild.

Troop 4—Four new girls have been invested in this troop: Elizabeth Marshall, Muriel Marshall, Nora Lakes and Marilyn Brooks. The delegate to the Conference is Lonnie Kyle. Last week, the entire meeting was given over to sewing for the Needlework Guild.

Troop 7—Devoted its entire meeting to Red Cross Sewing and made rapid progress with the assistance of several workers who responded to the invitation of the previous week.

Troop 8—Is still continuing with its Home Nurse, Nature and Housekeeper Studies. This past week the girls have started making scrap books. Phyllis Cowdrey is the delegate from this troop to the conference.

Troop 10—The meeting with a bean bag game.

Instructions in Fire Prevention were given by Lieutenant Leveroni to several scouts. Tenderfoot instructions were also given. The signalling game which began last Tuesday was resumed. Quite a few scouts received all the words correctly from all five "stations". All other scouts advanced two or three stations with the exception of the beginners who remained at "Station 1" for further instructions.

The meeting closed with the singing of five rounds of "Flies Burning".

Troop 10—The cast of characters for our annual play has been given and rehearsals are well under way.

Reports came in that all bulbs are tucked away in nice rich earth and being carefully watched and cared for.

If you see Troop 10 Girls scanning the heights of your home or public buildings or pacing your highways don't be alarmed. They are only trying to pass their Heights and Distance Tests.

The girls of Troop 11 were especially favored this month, when Director Towne took charge of two of their meetings because of the illness of Capt. Bond. Capt. Towne passed all the girls in second class observation and invested Betty Davis as a Tenderfoot Girl Scout.

Last Monday Capt. Bond returned to troop meeting. Marjorie Wilson was invested as a Tenderfoot Girl Scout. A new girl from Troop 10, Elizabeth Ann Smith, was welcomed into the troop. Mary McCormick was absent because of illness.

After a short meeting, the girls all walked to Capt. Bond's home, where they started making bonnets, mittens, and bibs for the Needlework Guild. They brought their own supper and had a jolly time.

Betty Kennedy, Myrtle Peirce, and Shirley Bond, all of troop V, have helped out in troop 11, and Capt. Bond and girls are truly grateful. We all miss Lieutenant Cutter and hope she'll be back soon.

Telephone Co. Report
Shows Many Facts
Of Unusual Interest

Net earnings in 1932 of slightly less than 3 1/4 per cent on the average book cost of its $314,450,000 plant, equipment and working capital are shown by the annual report of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company made public today.

Earnings, after all charges, were $6.75 per share of average stock outstanding. Dividends aggregating $8.00 per share were disbursed, the difference being made up by taking $1,667,785.74 from the Company's surplus of more prosperous years.

Last year the Company installed 234,313 telephones and removed 234,907, a loss from regular operations of 120,594. Through absorption of the Aroostook Telephone and Telegraph Company, all of whose stock it previously owned, 9,196 telephones were added; so that the net loss of telephones operated was 111,398.

Loss of telephones, the report says, reached its peak in the third quarter. Since then the rate of loss has been decreasing. December losses were smaller than in any month since last April. Loss of residence telephones has been relatively heavier than loss of business stations.

Gross revenues, as compared with 1931, showed a loss of nearly 8 per cent. Operating expenses were reduced by about 6 1/2 per cent. Both as a measure of economy and to spread available work among employees as far as practicable, all officers and practically all employees have taken at least half a day off each week since March without pay. In some departments, where work is slackest, employees are taking even more time off without pay. Maintenance of employee morale and loyalty in face of this and other discouraging effects of the depression is noted as meriting sincere appreciation.

Among the employees, accidents were fewer and health was better than for several years.

Naturally, new construction work in 1932 was sharply curtailed, amounting to a little less than $18,000,000 as against nearly $29,000,000 the previous year. As to 1933, President Matt B. Jones says that, although demand for service at new locations and replacement of worn-out or defective plant will necessitate substantial outlay, the amount will be smaller than in 1932.

During the year operating buildings were completed and occupied, in whole or in part, at Lynn, Holyoke, Billerica and Bridgewater, Massachusetts; Providence, Rhode Island; Portland, Maine; and Newport, N. H.

Noted Matmen On Mechanics Hall
Card Feb. 15th

Charles Gordon left yesterday for New York and Florida. He expects to sign Jim Londo, world heavyweight champion for a title match in Boston about the first of March.

At the present time Gordon will probably arrange a championship match in Florida between Londo and Savoldi—if the grippers can come to agreeable terms.

On Feb. 15th at Mechanics Building, George Dussette, Notre Dame Star, tackles the ex-champion Steve Passas in the main fray of the Gordon show. All indications point that this show will be a sell-out and both grippers are on edge for their fray.

Mike Coste "Wildman of the Mat" was signed today to clash with Palmer Raymond in a no time limit no-holds-barred bout. Coste is the wildest grappler ever to enter a ring and exceeds DeVito when it comes to roughhouse tactics.

Bill Dolan who was laid up with pneumonia is back on the mat and will meet Art Flynn of Boston College in one of the preliminaries at Mechanics Building Wednesday, February 15.

Dolan is the Stasiak of the mat and is the champion ring wrecker of the wrestling world. He has the fans in an uproar with his comedy grappling and the ladies go wild when Bill starts on his rampages. Dynamite Dunn who keeps the police busy in any ring will be booked for Mechanics on Feb. 15th. He will grapple Cowboy Hughes of Oklahoma in a preliminary bout.

Dunn will arrive from New York Tuesday and train at Toland's Gym.

"The Prince of Pilsen"
At Copley Theatre

The Copley Theatre, freshly adorned, under new management and devoted to a distinct change of policy—that of musical productions only—will induct its season on Monday evening, February 6th, with that ever popular Boston favorite, Pilsen and Ladders' "The Prince of Pilsen". Thus, it will have a renewed admirable setting in the intriguing charm of that intimate atmosphere of the Copley which always invites the seeker of cozy entertainment.

The specially selected players and singers of this new organization have to their credit triumphs on the musical comedy professional stage of today. The principle characters of "The Prince of Pilsen" will be in the capable hands of Wesley Boynton as the Prince, Steve Mills as Hans Wagner, Alice Wellman as Nellie Crocker, Evelyn Dorn as Mrs. Madison Crocker, Melba Ryder Lindgren as Edith Adams, Edward Hale as Lieut. Tom Wagner, and George Vivian as Artie. A new dance by Miriam Winslow, great favorite with Boston's smart set, will be an incidental feature of these performances.

The orchestra will be under the skillful direction of Mr. Pierre De Reeder whose similar association with the smart and intimate musical comedy productions of the Princess Theatre in New York, as well as with the more recent musical comedy and operetta offerings at the Boston Opera House, give him a competent background.

Commensurate with the economic spirit of the times, while at the same time maintaining the necessary high standard of cost, the singing and dancing beauty ensemble, and an entirely new production, the seat prices will range from 50 cents to $1.50, evening and at the Thursday and Saturday matinees, 50 cents to $1.00.

THE CHESLEY IS A PLEASANT HOME

The Chesley is a dream house, but the dream of the designer has come true. For it has been built and occupied, and has stood the test. The accompanying photograph and floor plans will tell the story of this five-room home with bath.

Arrangement of the Chesley Will Answer Demands of Most Critical Has Passed the Test of Occupancy

Once in a blue moon a set of plans appears for a house which seems to have in it everything that the most critical can wish for. Such a house is the Chesley, pictured on adjacent columns, containing five rooms.

A study of the plans reveals that the floor arrangements are most satisfactory. The living and dining rooms are divided by a center hall with staircase ascending to the floor above. Closet space is abundant. A vestibule protects the interior of the house from wintry blasts. The living room is large and roomy and is graced by a handsome fireplace. The kitchen is cozy and compact and has a folding breakfast nook. And last but not least, the exterior lines are striking yet in the best of taste.

A Real Home
This is a real home—one that has actually been built and met the severe test of occupancy. One of the advantages of picking a home of this sort is that it has been built. And this home has been pronounced satisfactory.

The cost of construction is not excessive. It is within the pocket-book of the average family. The exact cost of the house depends largely on the taste of the home builders and their desire for luxurious furnishings. If the home builder insists on tiled baths, with tinted porcelain and on expensive interior decorations, logically the cost will mount up. But these things are not essential to the average home and other accessories more modest in cost can be suitably used.

Single Siding
Like many small homes the Chesley is constructed with shingle siding. Stained in warm tones these shingles give the house a most comfortable atmosphere. The white trim at the windows and doors also sets off handsomely the neat architectural lines.

The dormer windows and French doors balance most artistically the vestibule, which has a sharply pitched roof and occupies the center of the facade, becoming the local center of the picture.

From every angle, front, side or back, the Chesley is a handsome house.

Well Arranged Interior
The interior layout of this house is most satisfactory. The use of the center hall divides the first floor into two units. On one side is the large living room with its brick fireplace. On the other is the service unit, dining room and kitchen.

The reception hall is ample for its purpose yet not wasteful of space. The guest closet with a full length mirror in the door is convenient, while the staircase with handsome newel post and slender balusters add to the appearance of the room.

Two Chambers Above
On the upper floor are two sleeping rooms, one on each side of the upper hall. These rooms are slightly irregular in shape but each is graced with abundant closet space and an alcove lighted by two double hung windows. At the sides of the chambers are additional windows, making the sleeping quarters well lighted and provided with cross ventilation, so essential during hot summer nights.

The bathroom in one corner completes the group of rooms on this floor. It is of convenient size and has a built-in tub. The medicine cabinet is steel with a wall light over-head. An electrical outlet enables the housewife to use electrical appliances such as curling iron and vibrators when desirable.

Concrete Footings
The footings and foundation walls are constructed of concrete blocks. These blocks are eight inches by 16 inches, and may be purchased from a local dealer. A course of brick at the grade lines give a touch of color and finish to the exterior of the foundation.

The floor of the basement has been cemented. A drain has been constructed in the laundry portion of the basement, and built-in tubs with hot and cold water installed.

As is customary with small homes, the heating plant is of the hot air type. The plans of the Chesley call for a fuel room, but the furnace may use oil as fuel if the owner so desires. Such a convenience as this allows the entire basement area to be left open.

MAKE YOUR GARDEN AN OUTDOOR ROOM. BORDERED WITH FLOWERS AND SCREENED WITH SHRUBS.

Interior decorators are established institutions. Every housewife knows about them. Studies their work, goes to hear them lecture, and employs them if the household finances permit. Good taste in the home furnishing is constantly increasing with a desire for the most beauty procurable with the material at hand. The great factor in interior decoration is the proper arrangement of the materials, their placing and grouping.

With the artistic arrangement and decoration of the interior the next and most logical step, naturally, is exterior decorating, known as landscape architecture or gardening. Rather pretentious terms for a 20-foot lot, but these small lots need more careful thought and planning for best effects just as the small room as a more difficult problem to the interior decorator than a large one with plenty of room in which to produce effects.

Planning for space in the small house is the most important problem and it is equally important in the small yard. It is useless to try to make a 30 by 50 foot back yard a miniature of a country place. First of all, in planning the small yard for most beautiful effects, it must be kept in mind that the design, to be effective, must be simple. It must also be in scale to the size of the lot. The problem is also complicated by fixed and immovable features such as walks, fences and the position of the house. The design must be fitted to them.

On a small place, straight lines in design are far the best both for convenience, effect and practical purposes. Curved lines merely for the sake of a curve suggest informality are out of place. They are an imitation of the curves of fine informal plantings on large estates, where long straight lines would be ineffective, unnatural, and wasteful. There is no line long enough on a small lot to need the relief of a curve. The proper use of straight lines will be most effective in developing the plan of the yard. Straight lines the long way of the lot increase the appearance of depth. Transverse straight lines will relieve the impression of extreme length and alley-like suggestion of unusually deep narrow lots. Stick to straight lines in small yard planning for simplest and best effects.

ILLUSION:

One of Houdini's most spectacular escape feats was performed with a huge milk can filled with water. He invited persons of the audience to bring padlocks and lock him into the can. He got into the can, the lid was put on and fastened with several padlocks. A screen was placed in front of the can. Assistants stood by with stop watches and fire axes to save him from drowning after a certain time. About a minute later, the screen was removed, Houdini was seen panting and dripping...the padlocks remaining intact!

EXPLANATION:

The usual method of escaping from a milk can is as follows: The lid of the can is apparently securely padlocked to the lower portion, but actually the metal band to which the staples are attached is the top of a short inner lining. The performer, after being locked into the can, pushes the lid upward with his head and the short inner lining is forced out of place, permitting his escape. The screen is then removed.

It's FUN TO BE FOOLED ...IT'S MORE FUN TO KNOW

What exciting magic there is in cigarette advertising! Let's look at one of its greatest illusions...that cigarettes can be mysteriously given superior "FLAVOR."

THE EXPLANATION: Just three factors control the flavor of a cigarette. The addition of artificial flavoring...the blending of various tobaccos...and the quality of the tobaccos themselves. Quality is the most important. Artificial flavoring can never wholly disguise the poor flavor of cheap tobaccos.

The blending of several cheap, raw tobaccos cannot improve the flavor of any of them. A fine cigarette is a cigarette blended from costly, ripe tobaccos.

It is a fact, well known by leaf tobacco experts, that Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

This is why the Camel flavor has never been rivaled...why Camels have given more pleasure to more people than any other cigarette ever made.

In more costly tobaccos lies the secret of Camels' delicate "bouquet"...of their rich, cool flavor...of their non-irritating mildness. It's the tobacco that counts.

All the natural goodness of Camel's tobacco is kept fresh and rich for you by the air-tight, welded Humidor Pack. Don't remove it. Its moisture-proof cellophane also protects your Camels from dust and germs. Put a pack in your pocket today.

"Spirit" Is Subject For Lesson-Sermon

"Spirit" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Church of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "God is a Spirit; and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth" (John 4:24).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him. But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him; because they are spiritually discerned" (1 Corinthians 2:9, 14).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The calm, strong currents of true spirituality, the manifestations of which are health, purity, and self-immolation, until the beliefs of material existence are seen to be a bald imposition, and sin, disease, and death give everlasting place to the scientific demonstration of divine Spirit and to God's spiritual, perfect man" (p. 99).

Highlights By Grayce Thorson

"We, The People", is a bitter tirade against capitalism. It is the new play by Elmer Rice which is playing to enthusiastic audiences at the Empire Theatre. This fine old Broadway theatre, is one of the older edifices which, like the Metropolitan Opera House, just across the street, maintains an air of grandeur and dignity. One can almost see the ladies and gentlemen of years ago leave their drawing-rooms of Murray Hill and drive in carriages to this fine old theatre to fill the lower floor. Great actors and actresses have played in the house—Henry Miller, John Drew and others equally as famous until we came to Katherine Cornell, Helen Hayes, and Leslie Howard of our own generation.

One of the most famous first nights in this theatre and in the theatrical world, was Maude Adams' opening in "The Little Minister" on September 27, 1897. This same Elmer Rice rarely writes anything but a successful play; for instance, "Street Scene" and "Counselor-at-Law."

Other theatrical ventures now here and really worth seeing are—"Another Language," a family problem play, "Criminal At Large," an Edgar Wallace mystery play, the society drama by Edna Ferber and George Kaufman "Dinner At Eight." Constance Collier is in this play and it is interesting to note that she has never appeared in a successful play the title of which did not total 13 letters. This 13, reputedly unlucky, has brought much good luck to her splendid career. "Pigeons and People" is by and with George M. Cohan. He wears a faded green robe at his first nights to be sure of good luck for himself and his play. A new play by Rachel Crothers is "When Ladies Meet." "Music in the Air" is a Kern-Hammerstein operetta with a Bavarian background, and "Pardon My English" features Lyda Roberti and Jack Pearl, the dialect comedian—and is he superstitious! If anyone touches the lobe of his ear, he will chase until exhausted to return the touch. And nothing can stop him from picking up a hairpin if he sees it on the stage during a performance.

Speaking of William Faversham, he and Mrs. Faversham are guests at the 44th Street Hotel and David Warfield may be seen paying a daily visit to the Lambs club. This veteran actor declares he will never perform again. He wants his public to remember him as he was in "The Auctioneer" and in "The Music Master."

Leo Carillo of moving picture fame is in town and he has not forgotten his old friends. One such was passing without seeing him the other day when Leo shouted, "Hello, Joe!" Joe stopped and they had a great time reminiscing. When Leo is introduced to someone he acts as though he really enjoys making the acquaintance. "Hello, Frank, old boy, how are you?" A firm handshake goes with it and you feel all warm and glowy inside. Fame can't hurt the real fellows!

So much for the theatre. A new in the district controls four or five stands. He greets his customers as though they were buying a Rolls Royce or the Empire State Building. Needless to say, these customers come to him regularly and he is doing a thriving business. Do you wonder?

Many, "Brother, can you spare a dime?" fellows on the streets but no sandwich wagon on the square airing its charity this year. A Shanty Town springing up along the Hudson River across the street from Snooty Town on Riverside Drive. 1932 license plates. They must be under separate ruling. I'll watch to see when they change to 1933 plates. Wouldn't ask anyone about them for this is one of those towns where people have an answer for you, right or wrong.

No Curtailment Of "EI" Service Contemplated

No curtailments in service at the present time are contemplated by the Elevated railroad as a result of the figures shown in the annual report of a loss for the past 12 months of $2,569,445, according to General Charles H. Cole of the trustees.

As patronage falls off service must be cut down, according to General Cole, but it is done gradually to inconvenience the public as little as possible.

"I have said, and I repeat it at this time," said General Cole, "that we will be in good shape in five years, because the business of the country will return by that time. Now that the banks are in better shape we know that the swing has started the right way. The Elevated is not suffering today from competition from automobiles, but by lack of employment in the city. The number of lost signs that are to be seen down town indicates the falling off in the number of people that the Elevated carries."

Medford C. C. C. Boys' Club Will Start Activities

Medford C. C. C. Boys' club is again underway for a successful season.

A few trips have already been made, and another opportunity is extended to any Medford boys age 12 to 16, to join in the trip to the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A., Charlestown, today.

F. C. Woods, Medford C. C. C. Boys' club director, announces that enrollment for membership will soon open for this 1933 season.

More than 200 Medford boys enrolled as members last year—and it is assured that more than that number will join up this year, "all set and ready to go" for the opening of the baseball season.

The program committee of the Medford Historical Society has completed as far as possible its Spring program of events.

On the evening of Feb. 20th at 8 o'clock, Dr. Robert H. Veitch will give his wonderful illustrated travelogue, "Here and There," in which he takes his audience to places in Europe, far off Hawaii and back to Medford, where he has made some extraordinary studies of Middlesex Falls in the changing seasons, concluding with his celebrated Masterpieces.

February 20, the monthly pilgrimage will be made to Melrose, starting from headquarters at 2 p. m. An interesting program has been prepared by the Melrose society for the occasion including visits to historic dwellings.

Henry Lawrence Poor, internationally known artist and lecturer will present his illustrated lecture on "Napoleon," on the evening of March 21. Mr. Poor has given this talk for many notable organizations throughout the country and has had to repeat it in several instances.

With all the discussions relative to the "brook situation," in Medford, it will be enlightening to those of the past and present generations to hear an instructive talk by City Engineer Harold J. Nicholson, who will describe conditions at present and what has been done to alleviate the situation in his address on "Hidden Brooks," to be given the evening of March 17, at the headquarters of the society.

April 29, a delegation of members will embark on a pilgrimage to Worcester, to attend the meeting of the Bay State League, which meets in that city. Transportation will be provided for those who have means.

The "Old Lawrence Farm," will be the subject of a reminiscence talk by Atty. Mark E. Gallagher of Medford, at the home of Mrs. Melville T. Nichols on Lawrence road, a member of the society, who will act as hostess to her fellow members, May 15th at 8 in the evening.

Additional pilgrimages, one on May 27th to the famous old Fairbanks homestead at Dedham, and a second to the summer meeting of the Bay State League, at a place to be announced, will be made.

An invitation is extended to friends of the Historical society, to attend these lectures and pilgrimages which are entertaining and instructive. The society welcomes those who desire to affiliate with the organization, which has been in existence since over 35 years and whose membership has included Medford residents notable in the annals of its history. The society is flourishing and its building contains many interesting relics as well as a library of manuscripts and books, which are valuable and irreplaceable.

Its publication the Historical Register is only antedated by the Medford Daily Mercury, and has as its subscribers college libraries and historical societies throughout the United States.

—Mrs. John Vanderpool of Wolfboro, N. H., who was entertained here by her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley S. Johnson of 8 Adams street, has returned to her home.
